Town seeks feedback on code compliance services March 28 and April 2

Newly hired Code Compliance officer begins work

The Town of Estes Park Community Development Department will host two meetings to gather community input on the code compliance services it provides to the community. There are two opportunities to participate. Meetings are scheduled for Thursday, March 28 from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. and Tuesday, April 2 from 3:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. Both meetings will take place in Room 203 of Town Hall, 170 MacGregor Ave. Refreshments will be provided. Newly hired Code Compliance Officer/Planner Phil Kleisler, Town Administrator Frank Lancaster and Community Development Director Alison Chilcott will attend to hear from participants.

Department director Alison Chilcott noted the Town's desire to partner with citizens to develop a code compliance program that fosters a safe, healthy and clean community. Chilcott commented on the outreach effort, saying "We want to hear from community members what a successful code compliance program looks like." Chilcott also hopes to hear what community members believe are the most important issues for Estes Park, such as clean neighborhoods, safe buildings, weed-free properties, sign code compliance, dark-sky lighting, vacation home compliance and more.

Phil Kleisler will join the Community Development Department March 18 as the Code Compliance Officer and Planner I. He and his family come from Asheville, North Carolina, where Phil worked in the City Manager's Office as the Business Services Manager and more recently as a project manager for a regional utility consolidation. Prior to this, Kleisler served as the Community Development Coordinator for the YMCA of Western North Carolina and is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force. He holds a master's degree in Geography/Planning and a bachelor's degree in Environmental Policy and Management.
